Re: United States v. Sung Kook (Bill) Hwang and Patrick Halligan, No. 22-cr-240 (AKH)
United States v. Scott Becker and William Tomita, No. 22-cr-231 (LTS)

Victim Impact Statement and Request for Restitution

Dear Mr. Rossmiller:

This Firm represents Jefferies LLC and Jefferies Financial Services Inc., as successor in interest to Jefferies Financial Products, LLC (together with Jefferies LLC, "Jefferies") in connection with the above-referenced actions. Through this letter, we respectfully submit Jefferies' victim impact statement and request for restitution relating to the misconduct of the convicted defendants Sung Kook (Bill) Hwang, the founder and former head of the now-defunct family office Archegos Fund, LP (together with affiliate Archegos Capital Management, LP, "Archegos"), and Patrick Halligan, Archegos' former chief financial officer. Jefferies also seeks restitution from Hwang's and Halligan's coconspirators—William Tomita, Archegos' former head trader, and Scott Becker, Archegos' former chief risk officer (together with defendants Hwang and Halligan, the "Defendants")—who both pled guilty to crimes relating to Archegos.

The Defendants were convicted of or pled guilty to racketeering conspiracy, securities fraud, wire fraud, and (with respect to defendants Hwang and Tomita) market manipulation.¹ As is relevant here, defendants Hwang and Halligan, through their subordinates, defendants Tomita and Becker, induced Jefferies to extend Archegos millions of dollars in credit, which Archegos used to acquire massive holdings in certain stocks through financial instruments known as “swaps.” Archegos did the same with several other swaps brokers, concealing from each broker, including Jefferies, that it held swaps in the same, highly concentrated group of stocks with the other brokers. By causing Jefferies and these other brokers to unknowingly purchase high volumes of the same stocks, Archegos artificially inflated the price of those stocks in the market, which, in turn, inflated the value of Archegos’ swaps portfolios. This provided Archegos with leverage to execute even more swaps. And so the vicious cycle continued.

The Defendants’ market manipulation scheme finally came crashing down in late March 2021, when the price of certain stocks in Archegos’ portfolio dropped, triggering margin calls at many of Archegos’ brokers and an immense liquidity crunch. Nevertheless, Archegos, through the Defendants, continued to lie. On March 24, 2021, Scott Becker, acting on behalf of Archegos, requested to withdraw approximately $500 million of cash from Archegos’ accounts at Jefferies. In support of that request, Becker represented to Jefferies that Archegos was not in any financial distress. Taking Becker at his word, Jefferies sent Archegos $248 million in cash, which otherwise would have served as collateral for the monies Archegos owed to Jefferies. Unbeknownst to Jefferies, by this time, the collapse of the Defendants’ house of cards was inevitable. In the end, Jefferies lost approximately $40 million due to the Defendants’ fraud.

Under the Mandatory Restitution to Victims Act (“MRVA” or the “Act”), a sentencing court is required to order defendants convicted of crimes “against property . . . committed by fraud or deceit” in which “an identifiable victim or victims has suffered a . . . pecuniary loss,” to pay restitution to the victims. 18 U.S.C. § 3663A(c)(1)(A)(ii), (B). Accordingly, Jefferies, as a victim of the Defendants’ crimes, is entitled to recover restitution in the amount of its outstanding losses.

The basis for the calculation of those losses is set forth in greater detail below in Section II.

I. The Defendants’ Fraud against Jefferies

A. Archegos Opens Prime Brokerage and Swaps Accounts with Jefferies.

Bill Hwang, a former protégé of the famous hedge fund manager Julian Robertson, and self-described “Tiger Cub,” founded Archegos in 2013. Archegos was ultimately responsible for managing billions of dollars of Hwang’s personal fortune.²

Between 2013 and 2017, Archegos opened two accounts at Jefferies and used them to gain exposure to certain stocks. First, in 2013, Archegos opened a prime brokerage account through which Archegos was able to purchase and sell securities, financed in part by loans issued by Jefferies. Second, in 2017, Archegos opened a swaps account.³ To execute a swap, Archegos was required to post collateral, including an independent amount (“IA”), at the outset of each transaction. The IA was calculated as a percentage of the market value of the shares underlying the swap at the time of execution. For the duration of each swap, each day, Jefferies would calculate the present value of Archegos’ swaps positions and net the portfolio to determine whether, in the aggregate, there was an unrealized gain or an unrealized loss.⁴

Consistent with market practice, if the swaps portfolio reflected an unrealized gain, Jefferies would on occasion permit Archegos to satisfy the IA requirements for new swap transactions by crediting the IA amount against the unrealized gain in Archegos' existing portfolio rather than requiring Archegos to deposit additional cash collateral. On the other hand, if the portfolio reflected an unrealized loss, Jefferies might issue a "margin call," i.e., require Archegos to deposit with Jefferies additional collateral known as variation margin.⁵

For some investors, one of the purported benefits of trading via swaps is that trading activity remains anonymous, because the shares that counterparties purchase to hedge their risk are held in the counterparties' names and not in the names of the investors.⁶ The anonymous nature of trading via swaps was key to Archegos' market manipulation scheme because the full scope of Archegos' trading activity was kept hidden from each of its brokers. The result was that swaps brokers including Jefferies, Goldman Sachs, Credit Suisse, Nomura, and others purchased large volumes of shares of the stocks underlying Archegos' swap transactions to hedge their risk, not realizing that Archegos had executed swaps in the same securities with all its other brokers. This both artificially inflated the price of the underlying stocks (due to the high volume of trading in those names), and created tremendous risk, due to the lack of diversification in Archegos' swaps portfolio, that Archegos would go into default with each broker if stock prices fell.⁷

B. Archegos Lies to Jefferies to Secure Transfers of Funds to Archegos.

Archegos maintained the prime brokerage and swaps accounts with Jefferies from 2017 through the date of Archegos' collapse on March 26, 2021.⁸ During that period, in part due to Archegos' market manipulation scheme, Archegos' prime brokerage and swaps positions increased dramatically in value, leaving hundreds of millions of dollars of "excess" in the accounts. The excess reflected the amount by which the value of Archegos' prime brokerage and swaps positions, measured in the aggregate at the close of the preceding business day, exceeded the sum total of Archegos' collateral obligations and the value of the underlying shares at execution of its trades.⁹

On the morning of March 24, 2021, Archegos had excess of more than $421 million in its swaps account and excess of more than $106 million in its prime brokerage account. Archegos emailed Jefferies that day requesting to transfer $415 million of excess out of its swaps account and $100 million of excess from its prime brokerage account.¹⁰

Jefferies' Victim Impact Statement
and Request for Restitution in the matters
United States v. Hwang, No. 22-cr-240 (AKH)
United States v. Becker, No. 22-cr-231 (LTS)

In response, Jennifer Miranda, a credit risk officer at Jefferies, had a call with defendant Scott Becker, Archegos' former chief risk officer, on March 24, 2021.¹¹ During that call, Ms. Miranda asked Mr. Becker explicitly whether Archegos was facing liquidity issues or otherwise in financial distress. Had Jefferies known Archegos was in default with its other brokers or had liquidity issues, Jefferies would not have released any funds to Archegos. Mr. Becker responded "no," and affirmatively represented that Archegos was not facing any liquidity issues.¹²

This was all a lie. As Archegos' former copresident, Brian Jones, testified at trial, on March 24, 2021—the same day that Mr. Becker told Ms. Miranda that Archegos was not in financial distress and had no liquidity issues—Archegos' executive chairman, Andrew Mills, told Mr. Jones that Archegos was on the brink of collapse. Mr. Mills said he was praying the markets would improve by the following day and that if they did not, "liquidation might be dire."¹³ Contrary to Mr. Becker's representations to Ms. Miranda, Archegos in fact was facing margin calls with several of its other brokers and was scrambling (unsuccessfully) to meet those calls by moving money out of its accounts with Jefferies.¹⁴

In reliance on the lies Mr. Becker told to Ms. Miranda, Jefferies agreed to wire to Archegos $248 million in cash on March 24, 2021.¹⁵

Over the next two days, Mr. Mills' fears were realized: the bubble burst on Archegos' market manipulation scheme and the artificially inflated value of its positions collapsed, causing Archegos to default on margin calls with Jefferies and other brokers where it maintained swaps and prime brokerage accounts.¹⁶ In response, Jefferies liquidated Archegos' swaps and prime brokerage portfolios.¹⁷ After the liquidation, Archegos' accounts with Jefferies were in a nearly $40 million deficit, as further detailed below.

In the end, the Defendants' crimes harmed Jefferies in at least two ways. First, their manipulation of the market (by secretly investing in the same concentration of stocks with multiple brokers) artificially inflated the value of Archegos' positions and ultimately caused those positions to collapse. This resulted in Archegos defaulting on its margin calls with Jefferies (and other brokers) and left Jefferies with a multimillion-dollar deficit even after liquidating Archegos' portfolios. Second, the lies Scott Becker told Ms. Miranda on March 24, 2021, at the direction of defendants Hwang and Halligan, caused Jefferies to transfer to Archegos cash collateral that otherwise would have been available to satisfy the deficit after the liquidation. Instead, Jefferies was left holding the bag.

United States v. Hwang, No. 22-cr-240 (AKH)
United States v. Becker, No. 22-cr-231 (LTS)

II. Jefferies' Losses and Request for Restitution

A. Calculation of Losses

Jefferies' initial losses totaled $38,947,756.84, including a $8,078,275.80 debit owed to Jefferies LLC from Archegos' prime brokerage account, and $30,869,481.04 owed to Jefferies Financial Products, LLC, from Archegos' swaps account. As summarized in the chart below, the swaps figure included a net settlement amount of $4,980,104.07, reflecting the difference, in the aggregate, between the value of the shares underlying the swaps at the outset of the transactions and the value of those shares at liquidation; a net accrued floating amount of $4,416,625.37, reflecting net amounts owed due to the floating interest rate component of each swap transaction; net accrued dividends of $2,001,415.49, reflecting the value of dividends declared, but not yet paid, by the companies in whose stock Archegos held swap positions; and outstanding collateral of $19,471,336.11.¹⁸

Victim	Component	Amount (USD)
Jefferies LLC	Prime Brokerage Debit Balance	8,078,275.80
Jefferies Financial Products LLC	Swaps Net Settlement Amount	4,980,104.07
	Swaps Net Accrued Floating Amount	4,416,625.37
	Swaps Net Accrued Dividends	2,001,415.49
	Swaps Collateral	19,471,336.11
Total		38,947,756.84

Of that amount, at least $35,881,934.74 remains unrecovered.¹⁹

B. Jefferies' Entitlement to Restitution under the MRVA

Under the MRVA, the sentencing court "shall order" a defendant convicted of "an offense against property under" Title 18, "including any offense committed by fraud or deceit," to pay restitution to "an identifiable victim or victims" who "ha[ve] suffered a ... pecuniary loss." 18 U.S.C. § 3663A(a)(1), (c)(1). "The 'primary and overarching goal of the MRVA is to make victims of crime whole' to 'compensate these victims for their losses and to restore the[m] to their original state of well-being.'" United States v. Thompson, 792 F.3d 273, 277 (2d Cir. 2015) (alteration original) (quoting United States v. Qurashi, 634 F.3d 699, 703 (2d Cir. 2011)); United States v. Osovitzki, 2024 WL 3729618, at *3 (S.D.N.Y. Aug. 8, 2024) (same).

The MRVA defines "victim" to include "a person directly and proximately harmed as a result of the commission of an offense for which restitution may be ordered including, in the case of an offense that involves as an element a scheme, conspiracy, or pattern of criminal activity, any person directly harmed by the defendant's criminal conduct in the course of the scheme, conspiracy, or pattern." 18 U.S.C. §

3663A(a)(2). Corporate entities such as Jefferies are “persons” for purposes of the MRVA. See, e.g., Osovitzki, 2024 WL 3729618, at *3 (American Express was a “victim” of the defendant’s offenses under MRVA and therefore was entitled to restitution).

Here, the Defendants have been convicted of, or pleaded guilty to, Racketeering Conspiracy, 18 U.S.C. § 1962(d) (all Defendants), Securities Fraud, 15 U.S.C. §§ 78j(b) & 78ff (all Defendants), Wire Fraud, 18 U.S.C. § 1343 (all Defendants), and Market Manipulation, 15 U.S.C. §§ 78i & 78ff (defendants Hwang and Tomita). As detailed above, Jefferies was “directly and proximately harmed as a result of” the Defendants’ crimes because their market manipulation scheme caused Archegos to default on loans it held with Jefferies, and Archegos’ misrepresentations caused Jefferies to transfer to Archegos funds that otherwise would have covered the value of some or all of those outstanding loans.

C. Request for Restitution

For the reasons set forth above, both Jefferies LLC and Jefferies Financial Services Inc., as successor in interest to Jefferies Financial Products, LLC, have suffered pecuniary losses as a result of the Defendants’ crimes and are considered “victims” within the meaning of the MRVA. Accordingly, they respectfully request restitution in the amount of their unrecovered losses, totaling no less than $35,881,934.74.

Sincerely,

DECLARATION OF JENNIFER MIRANDA IN SUPPORT OF JEFFERIES LLC'S AND JEFFERIES FINANCIAL SERVICES INC.'S
VICTIM IMPACT STATEMENT AND REQUEST FOR RESTITUTION

I, Jennifer Miranda, declare under penalty of perjury as follows:

1. My name is Jennifer Miranda. I am a Managing Director and Credit Risk Officer for Jefferies. I have been employed with Jefferies since 2011.

2. I submit this Declaration on behalf of Jefferies LLC and Jefferies Financial Services Inc., as successor in interest to Jefferies Financial Products, LLC (together, "Jefferies") in support of Jefferies' Victim Impact Statement and Request for Restitution in the above-referenced matters.

The statements made in this Declaration are based upon my personal knowledge, my review of certain Jefferies' business records, and discussions with certain Jefferies employees with knowledge of the matters described herein.

Archegos Opens Prime Brokerage and Swaps Accounts with Jefferies.

3. My understanding is that, between 2013 and 2017, Archegos opened two accounts at Jefferies and used them to gain exposure to certain stocks. First, in 2013, Archegos opened a prime brokerage account through which Archegos was able to purchase and sell securities, financed in part by loans issued by Jefferies. Second, in 2017, Archegos opened a swaps account.

4. To execute a swap, Archegos was required to post collateral, including an independent amount (“IA”), at the outset of each transaction. The IA was calculated as a percentage of the market value of the shares underlying the swap at the time of execution. For the duration of each swap, each day, Jefferies would calculate the present value of Archegos’ swaps positions and net the portfolio to determine whether, in the aggregate, there was an unrealized gain or an unrealized loss.

5. Consistent with market practice, if the swaps portfolio reflected an unrealized gain, Jefferies would on occasion permit Archegos to satisfy the IA requirements for new swap transactions by crediting the IA amount against the unrealized gain in Archegos’ existing portfolio rather than requiring Archegos to deposit additional cash collateral. On the other hand, if the portfolio reflected an unrealized loss, Jefferies might issue a “margin call,” i.e., require Archegos to deposit with Jefferies additional collateral known as variation margin.

6. For some investors, one of the perceived benefits of trading via swaps is that trading activity remains anonymous, because the shares that counterparties purchase to hedge their risk are held in the counterparties’ names and not in the names of the investors.

Archegos Lies to Jefferies to Secure Transfers of Funds to Archegos.

7. Archegos maintained the prime brokerage and swaps accounts with Jefferies from 2017 through the date of Archegos’ collapse on March 26, 2021.

8. During that period, I am advised that Archegos' prime brokerage and swaps positions increased dramatically in value, leaving hundreds of millions of dollars of "excess" in the accounts. The excess reflected the amount by which the value of Archegos' prime brokerage and swaps positions, measured in the aggregate at the close of the preceding business day, exceeded the sum total of Archegos' collateral obligations and the value of the underlying shares at execution of its trades.

9. It is my understanding that, on the morning of March 24, 2021, Archegos had excess of more than $421 million in its swaps account and excess of more than $106 million in its prime brokerage account. Archegos emailed Jefferies that day requesting to transfer $415 million of excess out of its swaps account and $100 million of excess from its prime brokerage account. A true and correct copy of correspondence reflecting Archegos' requests to withdraw excess from its accounts is attached to this Declaration as Exhibit A.

10. In response to Archegos' requests to withdraw funds from its prime brokerage and swaps accounts with Jefferies, I had a call with Scott Becker, Archegos' former chief risk officer, on March 24, 2021.

11. During that call, I asked Mr. Becker explicitly whether Archegos was facing liquidity issues or otherwise in financial distress. Had Jefferies known Archegos was in default with its other brokers or had liquidity issues, Jefferies would not have released any funds to Archegos. Mr. Becker responded "no," and affirmatively represented that Archegos was not facing any liquidity issues. A true and correct copy of my handwritten notes from that phone call are attached to this Declaration as Exhibit B.

12. At the trial of the Hwang matter, I testified as a witness for the United States government concerning the representations Mr. Becker made to me during the above-described March 24, 2021 phone conversation.

13. Based on the above-described misrepresentations, I understand that Jefferies approved a $248 million wire to Archegos, consisting of $148 million from Archegos' swaps account and $100 million from the prime brokerage account. A true and correct copy of correspondence evidencing the wires to Archegos is attached to this Declaration as Exhibit C.

Calculation of Losses.

14. In response to the collapse of Archegos' positions, Jefferies liquidated Archegos' swaps and prime brokerage portfolios.

15. My understanding is that Jefferies' initial losses totaled $38,947,756.84, including a $8,078,275.80 debit owed to Jefferies LLC from Archegos' prime brokerage account, and $30,869,481.04 owed to Jefferies Financial Products, LLC, from Archegos' swaps account. The latter figure included a net settlement amount of $4,980,104.07, reflecting the difference, in the aggregate, between the value of the shares underlying the swaps at the outset of the transactions and the value of those shares at liquidation; a net accrued floating amount of $4,416,625.37, reflecting net amounts owed due to the floating interest rate component of each swap transaction; net accrued dividends of $2,001,415.49, reflecting the value of dividends declared, but not yet paid, by the companies in whose stock Archegos held swap positions; and outstanding collateral of $19,471,336.11. A true and correct copy of correspondence and documents that Jefferies sent to Archegos supporting Jefferies' calculation of these losses is attached to this Declaration as Exhibit D.

16. My understanding is that of the Jefferies' initial $38,947,756.84 in losses, at least $35,881,934.74 remains unrecovered.

Pursuant to 28 U.S.C. § 1746, I declare under penalty of perjury that the foregoing is true and correct. Executed on October 4, 2024, in New York, New York.

Re: Net Settlement Payment

Dear Sirs:

1. We refer to the ISDA 2002 Master Agreement (the “Master Agreement”) dated as of November 16, 2017 between Archegos Fund, L.P. (the “Defaulting Party”) and Jefferies Financial Products, LLC (“JFP”), the Prime Brokerage Customer Agreement (the “PB Agreement”) dated as of October 25, 2017 between the Defaulting Party and Jefferies LLC (“Jefferies”, and together with JFP, collectively, the “Non-defaulting Party”), and the Cross Margining and Master Netting Annex to the PB Agreement (the “MNA”) between the Defaulting Party, Jefferies and JFP. Any capitalized term used but not defined in this statement shall have the meaning assigned to that term in the Master Agreement, the PB Agreement or the MNA, as applicable.
2. We also refer to our notification to you on March 26, 2021 (the “Early Termination Date”) that, as a result of the occurrence of a Close-out Event, pursuant to the terms of the MNA, we were terminating the PB Agreement and terminating all outstanding Transactions governed by the Master Agreement.
3. We also refer to our Early Termination Calculation Statement dated March 29, 2021, which notified you of the initial Early Termination Amount payable by the Defaulting Party to JFP under Section 6(d)(i) of the Master Agreement.
4. This letter constitutes notice of the Net Settlement Payment payable by the Defaulting Party to the Non-defaulting Party in respect of the Early Termination Date as set forth in Section 3 of the MNA.
5. As detailed in Exhibit 1 to this statement, the Non-defaulting Party has calculated that the Net Settlement Payment payable by the Defaulting Party to the Non-defaulting Party in respect of the Early Termination Date is, as of the date hereof, USD 38,947,757.83 of which USD 8,078,275.80 is due to Jefferies and USD 30,869,482.03 is due to JFP.
6. The Net Settlement Payment is due and payable by the Defaulting Party immediately. Under the terms of the Master Agreement and the PB Agreement, the Defaulting Party is also obligated to pay interest on the Net Settlement Payment from and including the Early Termination Date to but excluding the date payment is actually made by the Defaulting Party in accordance with the terms of the Master Agreement and the PB Agreement.

Jefferies

7. The Defaulting Party should make payment immediately of an amount (the "Termination Amount") equal to the sum of (a) the Net Settlement Payment, and (b) applicable accrued interest to but excluding the date of payment, to the Non-defaulting Party by transfer of funds to the following account:

The Bank of New York Mellon
ABA# 021000018
A/C Jefferies Group LLC
A/C 890-067-2064
FFC Archegos Fund, L.P.
Reference: PB and Derivatives Termination

8. The Non-defaulting Party explicitly reserves the right to claim indemnity pursuant to Section 11 of the Master Agreement and Section 53 of the PB Agreement for any other reasonable out-of-pocket expenses (including legal fees) incurred by reason of the enforcement and protection of its rights under (a) the Master Agreement or any Credit Support Document or by reason of the early termination of any Transaction and (b) under the PB Agreement.

9. Nothing contained in this statement is intended to constitute, nor should it be deemed or construed to be, a waiver, discharge or release of either (a) any of the Defaulting Party's obligations to the Non-defaulting Party under the Master Agreement, the PB Agreement, including the MNA, or applicable law, or (b) any of the Non-defaulting Party's rights, remedies or privileges under the Master Agreement, the PB Agreement, including the MNA, or applicable law.
